The department having cohesive team of highly qualified, professionally competent, well recognized faculty endeavors to produce IT experts to fulfill the requirement in IT Sectors.

ABOUT THE COURSE

The FDP on “ADVANCED DATABASE SYSTEM CONCEPTS, DESIGN AND PRACTICES” is intended for Faculty members, Research scholars, to enlighten their knowledge in Large Scale Database.

"Data Base System" is taught to computer science and information technology and students in the engineering, MCA, Degree colleges. Databases are used not only in computer and information technology department but in all other industries too.

Whenever there is need of storing and preserving data, databases are used. They are used to add, retrieve, edit, and delete contents from the stored data. Data is managed more efficiently and its query language retrieves data very quickly. It is used in industries where data is to be maintained, like shopping malls, banks, small and large scale industries, private and multinational companies, educational institutes, internet, and so on. It accepts requests from clients, that may require sorting and extracting data. Once the server has processed the request, it returns the information to the client. The data integrity feature prevents multiple users accessing and modifying the same information at the same time.

OBJECTIVE

- Imparting knowledge of DBMS on a larger scale and at a faster rate.
- Helping maximum number teachers and working professionals learn Data base concepts and implement them in real life.
- Empower students and teachers in engineering colleges on a large scale.
